

the house the odor became more striking. I laid down my packages and went into the basement.

"The furnace door was closed. I opened it and looked in. What I saw were just bones. Then I saw bits of jewelry, a wedding ring, a head of hair. I didn't know what to think. I hurried upstairs.

"I called to Prof. Simon A. Singer, treasurer of Capital university, and a neighbor of mine, who came in, answered to my call. We went down to the furnace together. As we looked, we could still see nothing but bones. He agreed that it was a skeleton. Singer then called the coroner."

Restive Family at Dinner.

Milton, an older boy, was questioned at length. He said he attended classes at Capital university during the morning and that all members of the family were present for dinner at 11 o'clock. He and the two girls left home about 12:15 p. m., leaving Clarence, his father, and mother alone in the house.

Testimony established that the minister left home about 1:30 p. m., and Clarence testified that he left about fifteen minutes later.

Milton returned home about 3:15 p. m. and smelled a peculiar odor even before he had entered the house, he related. He did not investigate, thinking it was a rabbit pelt burning, he said. Questioned as to the odor, he said it was like "burned hair or flesh."

Boy Opened Furnace.

Not until his sister returned from school about 4:30 p. m. and were attracted to the furnace by the odor did Milton investigate, he said. The girl asked him to come down and see what was in the furnace. He accompanied them to the basement and opened the furnace door. A trifle, but hurriedly closed it when a volume of smoke and fumes poured forth, he said. He retraced his steps upstairs and soon afterwards went to the school campus to practice football.

He was called from the campus an hour later, and upon reaching home was told that "mamma has been found in the furnace."

Questioned closely as to why he did not investigate further when he opened the furnace door a trifle, Milton said that he thought perhaps a rabbit pelt or some old meat had been thrown in with the garbage.

No Suspicion, Son Says.

"Didn't you know that the body of your mother was in that furnace?" Prosecutor King asked him.

"I did not even suspect such a thing," was the quick reply.

Milton said that after coming from the cellar he went upstairs, put on his football uniform and went to football practice. He said it was about 5 o'clock when he returned. He exhibited strong emotion when asked the exact words his father had used in telling him of the tragedy.

"I was met at the door by father and he said: 'Son, mamma's body has been found in the furnace. That's all.'"

Police said no member of the family was considered as a suspect.

Bottle of Poison Found.

Another angle was injected into the strange case when Clarence testified that he had missed a bottle of carbolic acid which usually was kept in the medicine closet. Questioning of other members of the family failed to throw any light on this phase of the tragedy.

The older boy was further questioned about the usual time bread was delivered at the house. He said the same man had been calling for a year and had always appeared very nice. He noticed the bread on the kitchen table when he went home at 3:15, he said.

"After you knew that the odor that attracted you was the burning flesh of your mother, did you go to the furnace and look at the body?" Prosecutor King questioned.

"I did not," the boy answered.

Didn't Want to Look.

"Why didn't you?" the prosecutor questioned again.

"I didn't want to see my mother burning in a furnace," he said.

The youngest son, Clarence, declared he arrived home about 3:30, fifteen minutes after his elder brother. He said he noticed the odor and went to the basement. He explained that it looked "funny in the furnace," that it looked "as though his mother might be in there," but "I thought I'd let some body else find it out."

"He went back upstairs, he said, and laid down on a bed to rest. He did not say anything to any member of the family. He declared that he was not in the room when his brother, Milton,

SICS THE LAW ON EVANSTON SOCIETY WOMAN

When Eugene L. Ray, one of Evanston's leading photographers, returns home after a hard day's work two things always happen, he told Justice Max Witkower yesterday.

First his 2 year old daughter runs to the door to greet him. Then the telephone rings.

Society Woman at Phone.

The voice at the other end, he says, is always that of Mrs. H. M. Faust, prominent in Evanston society, who lives in the apartment below his at 618 Hinman avenue. She asks him to keep the child from making so much noise.

"I stood it until last night," Mr. Ray said. "I couldn't get any satisfaction out of the real estate agent, so I swore out a warrant for Mrs. Faust."

Mrs. Faust is charged with disturbing the peace. Justice Witkower postponed the hearing to Nov. 25.

Mrs. Faust Says Nothing.

Mrs. Faust refused to take the matter seriously and would make no comment on Mr. Ray's allegation that she had called him at all hours of the night as well as when he came home, complaining of the slightest movement in his apartment.

"The worst of it," Mr. Ray observed, "is that the Faustus have a baby that frequently cries at night and keeps us all awake. We realize that you can't keep children quiet all night, but even when they're having their pictures taken—and we have never complained."

BURNS FATAL TO BOY.

Leonard Indiana, 4 years old, 1627 South Soledad avenue, died yesterday from burns received several days ago when his clothes became ignited from a bonfire in the alley at the rear of his home.

MERRY PARCE OF WATER FOR BOOZE CLOSES IN COURT

The story of a thriving business in water among the moonshine trade at 315 Congress street was told to Municipal Judge Joseph W. Schulman in Des Plaines street court yesterday by Sgt. Bernard Borg of Chief Collins' staff.

"We found Mrs. Joie Arderno and Frank Maurer, 1115 South Jefferson street, there, and made them stay in the back room," Sgt. Borg said. "As customers called we filled up bottles with colored water, collected, then shoed them to the back room with the other prisoners. This kept up until we had all these people bagged."

And Sgt. Borg, waved toward a crowd of forty or more men and women.

The officer said Joseph Montana, whose son shot and killed Detective Sergeant Lawrence Hartnett in a moonshine raid last winter, drove up with a truckload of empty bottles. The truck bore no license number, so Montana was arrested also.

Mrs. Arderno and Maurer disclaimed connection with the place. Montana denied he knew his bottles were being bought for moonshine purposes. Judge Schulman discharged everybody except several of the water purchasers, who were fined $1 and costs each.

Scotch Chenille

Broadloom Carpeting

(An exclusive importation)

A product of one of the oldest mills in Scotland, this Chenille is the best value in high grade carpeting which can be found. Nothing more beautiful or luxurious can be had at such a moderate price. It is almost an inch thick, with an unusually "silky" luster for carpeting with such a thick pile.

The fine quality of Caucasian wool of which it is woven makes it the most durable of all Chenille carpetings. Yet, in spite of its unusual silkiness this wool has a resiliency that defies "matting down." This also helps the carpeting keep its original luxuriousness and appearance.

We have been handling it for three years and have not had even one complaint from the thousands of yards we have sold—a remarkable record for Chenille Carpeting.

It may be had in the best colors—such as the various shades of taupe, tete de negre and mole—in any lengths and in widths of 3, 6, 9, 10½, 12, 13½ and 15 feet.

Murray Wild When Called Bandit Ch

BY DONALD EWING

Jimmy Murray, beer runner, dabbler, spends considerable time sleeping during the day. His mail robbery trial, but he awoke with a jerk to find numerous witnesses were pointing out from the stand as a chief in the $2,000,000 holdup.

And, once the momentary drama of the case of his own coming came a tatter, it was nearly had court adjournment in rushed a woman of deputy and postmaster inspectors, truncating along in their midst.

"Your honor," fairly shouted Judge Adam C. Cliffe, "this threatened to kill a postal agent. He just went up to inspect him and found him going every bone in your body. If you don't quit, having them identify me."

Jimmy Gives His Version

"I didn't say just that, your honor," Murray replied. "This egg was laid out to people and then they got up and identify me. I told him if he didn't quit that every bone he has. He keeps saying motions toward me so names will know which is me."

"Now, look here, your honor," Murray said, "you ever say anything like this? You're going to get a square deal in this court and I'll see to it anything like this happens won't accept excuse."

"O, your honor, break short," Jimmy's attorney, who tried back at the commotion "a bit of sense. I don't know if he doesn't know how to do it. Please excuse him."

And Cliffe, who was sitting, Murray bundled into the courtroom and Den Short began lecture to his client about court etiquette.

His attorney, Murray and McComb, Murray's pal, named for the first time. Postal Agent, the third defendant in the case of his registered statements, was let alone in testimony. All day the court waited for Grant Glasscock, director of the gang and the ringleader on to convict Fahy, to stand but he did not appear. Rumor said Glasscock taken to Oklahoma to receive part of the lost District Court report was that he was in business today.

Murray said McComb named frequently in the Joe Newton the baby of the town handles all of whom were forced to the holdup of the Milwaukee and St. Paul train near Rondout, about 10 miles northwest of Chicago of June 19. Capt. Schoemaker, detective bureau and Det. Wenzel also identified both of their arrest in McComb's Wylie New York lay there was Joe Newton at his side.

Schoemaker told how he and Fred Tappert set a tip that this could be found in New York Washington avenue.

U. S. INSPECTOR'S LIFE THREATENED IN RONDOUT CASE

Murray Wild When He's Called Bandit Chief.

BY DONALD EWING.

Jimmy Murray, beer running and racketeer, spends considerable of his time sleeping during the Rondout, Ill., mail robbery trial, but yesterday he awoke with a jerk to find that numerous witnesses were pointing him out from the stand as a chief plotter in the $2,000,000 holdup.

And, once the somnolent James gets the drowsiness out of his eyes, he becomes quite a tartar, it seems, for Murray had court adjourned when he rushed a number of deputy marshals and postal inspectors, rounding Jimmy about in their midst.

"Your honor," fairly shouted, one to Judge Adam C. Cliffe, "this man just threatened to kill a postal inspector. He just went up to Inspector Cliffe and said: 'I'm going to break every bone in your body if you don't quit having these fellows identify me.'"

Jimmy Gives His Version.

"I didn't say just that, your honor," Murray replied. "This egg keeps putting me out to people and then having them get up and identify me, and I told him if he didn't quit that I'd bust every bone he has. He keeps making funny motions toward me so the witnesses will know which is me."

"Now, look here, young man," Judge Cliffe broke in sternly. "don't you ever say anything like that here. You're going to get a square deal in this court and I'll see to it. But if anything like this happens again I won't accept excuses."

"O, your honor," broke in Ben Short, Jimmy's attorney, who had hurried back at the commotion. "he hasn't a bit of sense. I don't know what he's doing, but he doesn't know enough not to do it. Please excuse him this time."

And Cliffe walked away laughing, Murray bundled into his coat and hurried to his client's federal court etiquette.

Hits Murray and McComb.

The government yesterday devoted its attention to Murray and to Walter McComb, Murray's pal, naming the latter for the first time. Postal Inspector Fahy, the third defendant and alleged tipster of big registered mail shipments, was let alone in yesterday's testimony.

On the first day, Paul passenger train near Rondout, about thirty-five miles northwest of Chicago, the night of June 17, Capt. Schoemaker of the detective bureau and Detective Art Wacholz also identified both and told of their arrest in McComb's flat while Joe Newton lay there wounded with Joe Newton at his side.

Schoemaker told how he and Sgt. Fred Tappert got a tip that information could be found at the flat at 28 North Washington avenue west there.

Murray and McComb, both were named frequently in the testimony of Joe Newton, the baby of the four Newton bandits all of whom have confessed to the holdup of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul passenger train near Rondout, about thirty-five miles northwest of Chicago, the night of June 17.

with a squad and started to kick in the door, when McComb opened it.

Joe Newton and McComb were taken to jail, Wylie to a hospital.

Murray Is Caught.

Wacholz told how he and Tappert stayed on guard until Murray came in early the morning of June 14.

"His coat was covered with blood and he offered us $200 to let him get away, promising $1,000 more the next day," said Wacholz. "I told him no and he was out of luck this time and then he flashed a special police officer's star. We took him to jail."

Wacholz was asked questioned lengthily, as was Schoemaker, about what became of the key witness, Murray, who opened the door. Finally Schoemaker's testimony was that Wacholz showed it to him, while Wacholz said he didn't. George Geunther, defense attorney, left the mean end of his covered with mystery, but assured the court it would "prove to be very pertinent before this trial ends."

Geunther questioned Schoemaker considerably as to what was done to Murray after his arrest and whether certain police officers were sent secretly to see him. He seemed to be trying to connect this with a question, which he shot at Wacholz.

"Now, just when was it you beat him?"

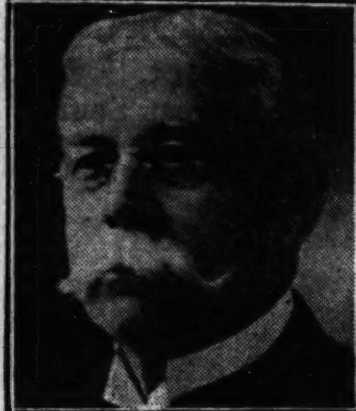

Wacholz replied "Never."

Joe Repeats Holdup Story.

Earlier in the day, Joe Newton, 22 years old, repeated almost verbatim the previous account by his brother, Jesse, of the holdup. He told, in addition, how he and Murray brought the wounded Wylie to McComb's flat from Ottawa, Ill., got a doctor and had him treated.

On cross examination, Ben Short tangled him badly on many subjects, but not on his account of the robbery itself. Joe, while remembering every date and hour in the planning and execution of the holdup, couldn't remember where he was during most of 1933, when he worked last, just how he got money and such things. Finally Short said:

"And it's true, isn't it, that you and Jesse disagreed in much of your stories about the dates in the planning of the robbery and such things but."

since your arrest, you have met several times and agreed on the statements you have both made before this jury?"

"Yes, sir," was the answer. Robert Milroy, Fahy's counsel, made Newton admit that Fahy "probably" was one of the inspectors who questioned the bandit in the Waukegan jail and in Chicago, urging him to confess everything. Also, that some of this questioning was in Fahy's office at the federal building.

DEMOCRATS PLAY LONE HAND; QUIT BOB IN CONGRESS

Washington, D. C., Nov. 18.—[Special.]—A definite movement for the reorganization of the managerial machinery of the Democratic party is about to be undertaken by party leaders.

Plans contemplate a new deal influenced by the lessons of the recent elections, with indications that Democratic senators will assume a dominating position in party management, such as existed in the Republican party at the outset of the presidential campaign in 1920.

There is dissatisfaction with the conduct of the Democratic campaign of 1934. Clem L. Shaver, chairman of the national committee, has been unable to collect money to continue a permanent organization on any comprehensive scale.

The remaining three months of the current congress will see a change in Democratic policy in congress. The Democrats in congress will not follow a course of obstruction to administration proposals. While registering protests against such proposals they will so conduct themselves as to put the administration in the position of being fully responsible for its legislative program.

The disposition is to cut loose entirely from any affiliation with the La Follette bloc. The whole tendency of leading Democrats in congress is to let Senator La Follette and his following in the senate and house play their game alone.

JUDGE REFUSES WRIT TO FREE JOLIET CONVICT

The writ of habeas corpus is a sacred right of the people, guaranteed under the constitution, and must never be abused in seeking the release on legal technicalities of criminals, it was declared yesterday by Superior Judge Joseph B. David.

The judge denied a writ to Attorney Eugene E. McGarry, who sought to obtain the release from Joliet penitentiary of William White, 35, sentenced for a term of from three to twenty years on a charge of robbery. A legal technicality had nullified the indictment, the lawyer argued.

"Release of a convicted criminal by means of the writ of habeas corpus would constitute a miscarriage of justice," Judge David said. "On the other hand, any one held by the police, in utter defiance of his rights and the law, is entitled to the benefit of this long standing right."

AUTO DRIVERS GRAVE SAFETY, NEW TEST SHOWS

State Desire for Lower Speed Limit.

Motorists are beginning to realize their responsibility for the safety of others, according to the results of a questionnaire filled out by more than 500 members of the North Shore Motor club. The questions submitted by the club managers, and the vote, as given in a club bulletin, are as follows:

"Do you favor a competency test for all drivers of motor vehicles?" Yes, 595; no, 35.

"Do you favor amending the speed laws to read as follows: 'Twenty miles an hour on city streets?' Yes, 576; no, 59.

"Twenty-five miles an hour on boulevards and through streets?" Yes, 595; no, 35.

Would Obey Them.

"If the speed laws were so changed would you obey them strictly?" Yes, 623; no, 9.

"Do you favor a law to regulate pedestrian traffic?" Yes, 591; no, 50.

The vote is not yet complete, it was announced.

A meeting was held yesterday of the newly organized Illinois safety council, the members of which include officials of the city and county whose duties include supervision of automobile traffic.

Coroner Oscar Wolf addressed the meeting in behalf of the bill sponsored by him which is to be introduced in the state legislature in January and which provides for the physical and mental examination of drivers and for licensing.

Aged Man Killed.

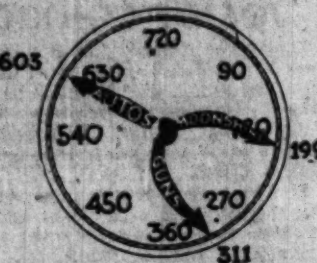

An unidentified man, about 70 years old, wearing a dark brown overcoat and suit and a brown shirt, was killed when he was struck by an automobile last night while at Madison and Elmhurst streets. The automobile which struck him was driven by John Bowman, 1847 North Wells street.

DEVER CAN'T GET ENTHUSED OVER HOME FOR IDLE

Mayor Dever will withhold approval of plans to open the municipal lodging house until real need is demonstrated, he said yesterday. A special appropriation of at least $5,000 has been asked by Miss Mary McDowell, commissioner of public welfare.

"I am bound to confess that in the light of the city's experience with the so-called 'casual laborers' last winter," the mayor said, "I am not impressed with the need. Though the city offered these men $7 a day to shovel snow last winter, they preferred to hang around a soft drink parlor."

HANDS OF DEATH

The hands of the clock indicate the number of deaths by auto, guns, and moonshine in Cook county since Jan. 1.

Mothers Fear Kidnaping of Daughters, 12 and 13

Fearful that their daughters may have been kidnaped, the mothers of Julia Tates, 12 years old, and Louise Millard, 13 years old, both of Mount Greenwood, Ill., have asked the police to institute a search. Mount Greenwood police in turn notified Chicago police to aid them, believing that the girls are on their way here. Both girls have been missing from their homes since early yesterday morning.

"BROTHERHOOD MINES" UNDER A. F. OF L. FIRE

El Paso, Tex., Nov. 18.—[By the Associated Press.]—Differences between the United Mine Workers of America and the Coal River collieries, owned by members of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, were thrust into the annual convention of the American Federation of Labor tonight by the introduction of a resolution of censure, naming the engineers' organization.

The resolution, presented by William Turnblazer, representing the Kentucky Federation of Labor, and signed also by President George L. Berry of the International Printing Pressmen's union, asks the convention to "condemn the action of the Coal River Collieries company and the attitude they have taken toward the United Mine Workers of America."

Would Revoke Stone.

The resolution further asks that "Mr. Warren S. Stone, chairman of the board of directors of the Coal River Collieries company and president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, be also condemned by this convention for the position he has taken in the exchange of correspondence with President John L. Lewis of the miners' organization."

The resolution recites that the mines of the brotherhood's organization, located in the Little Coal river district of West Virginia are not now operating on a full time basis because "officers of the Coal River Collieries company have discharged a number of the members of the mine workers' organization for exercising their constitutional rights of affiliating with unions of their craft."

Fight Is Promised.

The operation of the same company's mines in northeastern Kentucky, it is set forth, "is surrounded by armed guards."

Friends of the engineers' organization denounced the move and promised vigorous opposition on the floor when the committee report is presented.

BOOM LEWIS FOR CABINET

El Paso, Tex., Nov. 18.—[Special.]—John L. Lewis, head of the United Mine Workers, probably will be the next secretary of labor.

Endorsement of Lewis' candidacy was sponsored here today in a resolution of the league of nations and world court.

AL GOES HOME WHEN SORE TOE RUINS HIS GOLF

French Lick, Ind., Nov. 18.—[Special.]—Reports that Gov. Al Smith of New York had returned home suddenly today because of an infection in the foot were branded as ridiculous tonight by Dr. Dunning S. Wilson, who attended the governor.

"He went home because it hurt him to walk and he couldn't play golf," said the doctor. "There is no infection, I am certain, and the governor has no discomfort unless he is on his feet."

"Somehow he bumped his big toe on which he has a bunion and it looked as if it would cause him some discomfort for a few days. He came here for outdoor exercise and when he realized he couldn't enjoy himself that way, he went home."

The governor had planned to remain at French Lick through Thanksgiving and then was to have gone to Chicago for a two-day visit with George M. Brennan.

PRESIDENT

There are in Chicago eight lunchrooms and one cafeteria owned by the corporation of which I have the honor to be president and manager. Because of a complete change in the personnel guiding the affairs of this business, it seems proper to announce the policies and standards of the present ownership.

Those whose acquaintance I may claim need no assurance that the many years I devoted to supplying, at wholesale, food products of prestige acknowledged throughout the world taught me that the most advantageous way in which to meet competition is to sell food of quality more select than competition thinks necessary or practical.

While "Weeghman's" continues to maintain a moderation in prices possible only through most unique merchandising facilities, no concern, anywhere, offers you, at any price, food more wholesome, more delicious or served under more clearly and appetizing conditions.

It is the unalterable purpose of this establishment to rise, by merit, higher and higher in the esteem of all who know and appreciate food of a quality which only most conscientious and painstaking experience can supply. To this end every energy and resource of a capable organization will be devoted without limitation.

Anyone, in any station in life, no matter how dignified or important, may now come to "Weeghman's," at any hour of the 24, for a light repast, or a complete meal, with full assurance that "Weeghman's" is worthy of the patronage of every one who knows and seeks a very high standard of food, service and surroundings.

Today for breakfast, or for luncheon or for dinner or for supper or for a bit of refreshment in the "wee sma' hours" would be a good occasion upon which to become acquainted with the new "Weeghman's," and the courtesy of your visit will be appreciated.

LEN'S TROUBLE INCREASE; H AIDS IN PA

Assembly May Refuse

O. K. Re-election

BY FRANK BUTZOW

Panic is spreading among administration followers as the Master-in-Chancery Briggles against Gov. Len Small state interest suit, and the wide possibilities behind it sink into troubled minds.

This fear of the future was apparent yesterday. It was in several moves made in behalf of the governor.

Back of everything is the hope that threatens Small's financial fortunes; the details removal from office and forced payment to the state amount estimated at between $500 and $2,000,000.

What He Feels.

Gov. Small fears impeachment the legislature despite indications a few days ago that he could command a new assembly. More than 100,000 men are out of the state.

But the governor's most concern and that over which he is gravely troubled is light yesterday. It was disclosed in an administration leader. He is the fear that the legislature will vote to impeach the governor.

Nov. 18 election so far as the governor is concerned by withdrawal of the legislature from office.

Several members of the legislature have been felt out on the subject. Representative Robert Scholes, Peoria, Ill., said that the speaker, is said to be the guide of this move.

Governor's Men Awaiting

A member of the legislature yesterday he had been approached by the question by an administration member who said the governor feared a move of this sort and to lay his lines for blocking it.

It is pointed out that a two-thirds majority would hold up the governor until such time as it is in the treasury suits whether he is disqualified to hold office.

In the event the legislature proclaims Small duly qualified second term he would continue over as a de facto governor.

With Lieut. Gov. Fred E. Dillingham's resignation, the governor's power badly impaired. Facing a similar situation in the past it was suggested that the governor's certificate of election be held in abeyance until the final disposition of the suits.

Grounds for these fears of impeachment are fourfold: constitution which prohibits

LEN'S TROUBLES INCREASE; HIS AIDS IN PANIC

Assembly May Refuse to O. K. Re-election.

BY FRANK BUTZOW.

Panic is spreading among state administration followers as the effect of Master-in-Chancery Briggie's finding against Gov. Len Small in the state interest suit, and the wide range of possibilities behind it sink deeper into troubled minds.

This fear of the future was vividly apparent yesterday. It was disclosed in several moves made in behalf of the governor.

Back of everything is the haunting fear that threatens Small's political and financial fortunes; the danger of his removal from office and an enforced payment to the state of an amount estimated at between $1,000,000 and $2,000,000.

What He Fears.

Gov. Small fears impeachment by the legislature despite indications a few days ago that he could control the new assembly. More than that he fears an ouster order from the courts. But the governor's most immediate concern and that over which his followers are gravely troubled came to light yesterday. It was disclosed by an administration leader. He expressed the fear that the legislature will refuse to approve the canvass of the Nov. 19 election so far as the governorship is concerned by withholding its proclamation that Small has been "duly elected and qualified."

Several members of the legislature have been felt but on the question.

Representative Robert Scholes (Rep., Peoria), Small's first choice for speaker, is said to be the guiding spirit of this move.

Governor's Men Act.

A member of the legislature said yesterday he had been approached on the question by an administration emissary who said the governor feared a move of this sort and wants to lay his lines for blocking it. It was pointed out that a two-thirds vote is required for impeachment while a bare majority would hold up the state canvass until such time as it is disclosed by the treasury agent whether Small is disqualified to hold office.

In the event the legislature refused to proclaim Small duly qualified for a second term he would continue to hold over as a de facto governor, but with his power badly impaired.

With Lieut. Gov. Fred E. Sterling facing a similar situation in the treasury suit it was suggested that approval of his certificate of election might likewise be held in abeyance pending final disposition of the suits.

Grounds for these fears of the administration crowd are found in the constitution which prohibits any person shown to be indebted to the state from holding public office.

Offers Retainer to Dailey.

One of Small's first moves after the master in chancery held that he should make an accounting to the state for interest earnings collected while he was state treasurer (1917-19), was to offer a retainer to Senator John Dailey (Rep., Peoria). It was learned yesterday. The fee ostensibly was to be for legal services and advice.

Dailey, as one of the leaders of the senate combine, is one of the most powerful members of the senate, which sits as the court in impeachment cases.

State Tax Commissioner Oscar E. Carstrom, attorney general-elect, who has been widely quoted as saying he would dismiss the suits, declined yesterday to comment on Master in Chancery Briggie's findings.

"It is not up to me to comment until the matter comes to my door," Carstrom said.

The Governor's Plan.

Rumors persist that differences have already arisen between Carstrom and Gov. Small. The governor, it is learned, planned to put his personal attorney, Werner W. Schroeder, in the attorney general's office as Carstrom's first assistant. Under such a plan the prosecution and the defense in the Interest suits would work together in the same office.

With arguments on the defense motion to suppress the master's report coming up in Sangamon county circuit court next Monday, Judge Frank W. Burton has indicated that he will not countenance needless delay or prolongation of the arguments intended to keep the case from a definite decision until after the opening of the legislature and the inauguration of state officials.

Judge Burton has fixed no time for ending the arguments, but said he hoped to dispose of the case before Jan. 1.

100 CALLED BUT NONE CHOSEN FOR GAENSSLEN JURY

Although more than 100 veniremen passed through the jury box in Chief Justice Jacob H. Hopkins' courtroom yesterday, no jurors were selected to try Anna Valenta, 18 years old, her brother, Anthony, 17; William D. Lodon, 18, and Lucile Marshall for the murder of Mrs. Rosa Gaensslen.

Assistant State's Attorneys Michael Romano and Justin F. McCarthy found many prejudiced against sitting in judgment where a young woman was concerned. Defense counsel, led by Attorney Eugene McGarry, attempted to fill the box with men of large families, but was told by Prosecutor Romano.

Mr. Romano could not state whether he expected to demand the death penalty, but was careful to question veniremen concerning prejudice against hanging. A large majority were opposed, it was estimated.

Girl Corn Shucker, 19, Arrested in Men's Attire

Elizabeth Brand, 19 years old, was arrested in Jackson park yesterday for wearing men's clothes. She said she had been working as a harvest hand near Geneva, Ill. Her hands were torn from shucking corn. After long questioning she admitted that her mother lives at 329 East 9th street and was taken home by police.

WEATHER AIDS SHEARER FIGHT FOR BATTLESHIP

Storm Delays Gunning of Washington.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 18.—(Special.)—Bad weather and heavy seas off the Virginia capes again delayed the destruction of the battleship Washington, an accomplishment which William B. Shearer, naval expert, and his corps of attorneys have thus far been unable to do in the Washington courts.

Denied a temporary injunction in the District Supreme court last week, which would have stopped the navy department from destruction of the Washington, Mr. Shearer today went before the District Court of Appeals with the same request. The court dismissed the suit for want of jurisdiction.

Right to Sea, Not Proved.
The court strongly intimated that it would take the view that the United States Supreme court in the Prohibition case had established a principle that the taxpayer had not such an interest as to entitle him to maintain his suit against a public official. The court declined to hear arguments of counsel on the merits of the case, confining the question to that of jurisdiction.

It is the government's contention that the scrapping of the Washington, on which approximately $16,000,000 has already been spent, is decreed by the arms conference treaties and that the government has no choice but to destroy what would have been one of the finest battleships in the world.

Await Good Weather.
The message which came to the navy department from Norfolk told of cold windy weather off shore which made the proposed gunnery experiments impossible. The tests, it was pointed out, must be carried out in calm weather to afford the data and instruction which navy experts want. Officials at the Hampton Roads naval station said it might be several days before the weather would clear sufficiently for the experiments to be held.

FIGHT ON FOR NAVY

Washington, D. C., Nov. 18.—(Special.)—Hearings before the subcommittee of the house appropriation committee on the naval appropriations for next year are preliminary bouts to the showdown fight scheduled when congress opens as to whether the United States is to have a "navy second to none" as the arms conference provided or is to remain in a hopelessly inferior position.

While powerful influences have hampered the department's efforts to bring the facts to the attention of the people and congress, there are leading

LOSES FIGHT

William B. Shearer, New Yorker, who was refused injunction restraining the navy department from destroying the $16,000,000 battleship Washington in compliance with the disarmament treaty.

figures in both house and senate committed to a fight for a treaty navy. One of the initial steps to be taken will be to force passage of the bill, which failed during the closing hours of last session, to authorize modernization of the older battleships and construction of eight 16,000-ton cruisers and six river gunboats.

Gun Elevation Storm Center.

While official Washington has been "thumbs down" on gun elevation due to British opposition, this is certain to figure largely in the congressional discussions as naval officials are a unit in urging it.

Action on the pending construction bill, however, will be but a part of the fight. Fourteen additional cruisers, six mine laying submarines, six cruiser submarines, and two airplane carriers of 27,000 tons each must be added to the building program if the fleet is to be rounded out.

It is highly probable that instead of waiting for the attack to come from outside the navy department will early in the session submit to congress recommendations, with figures to support them, for a program that would eventually build up a treaty navy.

Takes All but Kitchen Stove; That Kills Husband

Mrs. Louis Fredericka, separated from her husband, went to his home in Forest Park Monday and removed all of the furniture but the kitchen stove. Yesterday Fredericka, 42 years old, a teamster, used the stove as a means of committing suicide. He was found on the floor of the kitchen, which was filled with gas. All of the stove burners were open.

ITALIAN ENDS LIFE; DREADED RETURN TO ITALY

John Calandriello, 21 years old, 4344 Federal street, despondent because other members of his family were soon to return to their former home in Italy, committed suicide late yesterday by shooting himself in the head.

He killed himself while his parents and a brother and sister were at supper.

WONDERLAND RADIO OPENS DOOR TO CHICAGO

Blossoming from a nondescript of two years ago into a gaudy, decorated symmetry and beauty, the third annual radio show opened yesterday at the Coliseum. Sure of their ground and of their newest output, the exhibitors, like to trade and to publicize. Lured from behind railings, portmanteaus, an album of receivers, parts, accessories upon a streamer, women, and children, all ran one type or another.

Radio Center of the World
Spurred by geographical transportation advantages, this city set out more than a year ago to make Chicago the actual center of the world. That the goal reached seemed evident at New York's exposition, half time as the de luxe edition of its kind that had been surpassed already. The number of exhibitors, the vastness of displays, the mark of spectators to be reckoned with, the fact that Hermann and Frank Kerr of the show, early in the afternoon, had been recorded before the curtain came down on the exposition of midnight.

There are nearly 200 among them some thirty concerns. Practically every space has been taken. As Coliseum fairly shines with the total value of which more than $5,000,000.

Blossoming from a nondescript bud of two years ago into a galaxy of ordered symmetry and beauty, Chicago's third annual radio show masterpiece opened yesterday at the Coliseum.

Sure of their ground and of the ability of their newest outputs to appeal alike to trade and to public, exhibitors looked from behind railings that apportioned many an elaborate arrangement of receivers, parts, and receiver accessories upon a stream of men, women, and children, all radio folk of one type or another.

Radio Center of World.
Spurred by geographical and transportation advantages, this city's industries set out more than a year ago to make Chicago the actual radio hub of the world. That the goal has been reached seemed evident last night New York's exposition, hailed at the time as the de luxe edition of everything of its kind that had gone before, has been surpassed already in two respects: Number of exhibitors and completeness of displays. With the 200,000 mark of spectators to be reached, U. J. Herrmann and Frank Kerr, managers of the show, early in the evening expressed confidence that this figure would be exceeded and New York left recordless before the curtain is rung down on the exposition next Sunday midnight.

There are nearly 200 exhibitors, among them some thirty large foreign concerns. Practically every foot of space has been taken. As a result the Coliseum fairly shines with displays, the total value of which is placed at more than $5,000,000.

High Frequency Year.
A stroll among the exhibits carried, from the technical viewpoint, a single striking impression: that this is very truly a high frequency year. Where the regenerative set held the center of the stage a year ago, receivers and "the makings" that employ from one to three stages of radio frequency met the gaze yesterday. Manufacturers who, in 1923, still directed the energies of their engineering and advertising departments in strictly regenerative lines, this year are enthusiastic boosters of their radio frequency products.

ARMY OFFICER FLIES 1,600 MILES TO REACH WOUNDED BROTHER

Butte, Mont., Nov. 18.—Covering 1,600 miles in fifteen hours' actual flying time, Lieut. George E. Rice of Kelly field, San Antonio, Tex., arrived in Butte today, where he was called to the bedside of his brother, Virgil R. Rice, convalescing from wounds received when he was robbed in a rooming house here. Lieut. Rice made five landings and is believed to have established a record for army planes in the intermountain region.

—from the straight amplifiers of broadcast bands—and low wave, too—to the imposing super-hets of many types of long wave-transmitters.

Nor is the show by any means devoid of entertainment features. Art holds its sway not only in every commercial booth, but sings and plays to the spectators from the booths conducted by Chicago's radio stations.

Broadcasting is done in the south balcony, in open view of that large quota of the curious public which is able therein to squeeze, with lower floor booths maintained by the stations where visitors may be received.

Amateur Display Attracts.
In the south balcony also are to be found the various amateur displays, climaxed by the short-wave station.

SXBG, in charge of E. T. Fiewelling, Chicago radio engineer. In a test Monday evening, two-way communication was had with amateur stations of the American Radio Relay league at Hartford, Conn., and New York City.

From 11 o'clock each morning until the gates are opened at 1 o'clock, the show is turned over to manufacturers and buyers. These trading hours the first day of the show; despite the unpreparedness of many exhibitors, were brisk, one manufacturer of receivers reporting that in the two hours, although his display was only two-thirds arranged, he had completed contracts for $35,000 worth of his product. Here, too, the management of the show looks for another shading of the New York record.

EVEN CHILDREN VISIT BOOTH TO AID BLIND FOLK

It's Part of Radio Show
You Shouldn't Miss.

The big glass receptacle in the booth of the Tribune Radio Fund for the Blind at the Collectum Radio show which yesterday began receiving contributions from show visitors attracted the attention of two urchins who passed by in the late afternoon. They stopped, looked back, and dug into their pockets. Each brought out a number of pennies, ran to the big glass and dropped it in.

The idea of them explained to the young woman in charge, "Our mother's blind."

Urbine J. Herrmann, one of the two managers of the show, said last night, after witnessing the interest taken in the plan to place a radio set in the home of every needy blind person: "I hope that every one of the many thousands who visit the show will come prepared to make a contribution to this cause. It appeals to everybody, especially those who know what added pleasure a radio set gives to the home."

Where Booth Is.
You will find the Tribune booth at the left of the entrance on the second floor of the annex. You cannot mistake it, as the location is marked by the big globe which waits on a table to receive your contribution.

The orchestra of the Illinois Industrial Home for the Blind will be heard, beginning tonight, in a concert in the Tribune booth. This organization, all the members of which are totally blind, will present a program of popular and classical numbers. J. Andrew White, famous broadcaster of New York, a member of the executive committee of the American Radio association, will act as master of ceremonies, and will introduce the members of the orchestra.

Explains Fund's Motive.
Frank H. McDonald, member of the mayor's radio commission and a member of the advisory board of the American Radio association, gave a talk last evening from WLS explaining the purpose of the fund and other stations will include appeals for funds on their programs during the week.

Visitors at the Tribune booth will find there at all times "Uncle Joe" Bird, a blind radio expert, who in spite of his handicap, has made amazing progress in this new science.

FIREMAN HURT AT FIRE.
William Moyer, a fireman, was injured and property damage reckoned at $15,000 was done by a fire which attacked a five story building at 2125 Rice street last night.

BIG BILL STILL BENT ON FILMING FISH IN TREES

And He Seeks Another
Crew for His Ketch.

William Hale Thompson, former mayor of Chicago, was emphatic yesterday in his pronouncement that his expedition to the South seas to make moving pictures of tree climbing fish had been postponed only temporarily.

A new crew is being recruited, he explained, the first one having deserted because of various superstitious fears.

Why They Quit.
Capt. Duken and his wife are still aboard the Big Bill at New Orleans, Mr. Thompson asserted. "The chief reason we couldn't hold the original crew was their refusal to serve on a ship on which the skipper had his wife."

"I made a bet of $22,000 that I would bring back pictures of the tree climbing fish, and I'm going to do it if I have to go in a rowboat and take the odds myself."

Build at Riverview.
The auxiliary ketch Big Bill was built last summer in Riverview park despite the 100,000 persons who inspected it. The former mayor and his party cruised in it all the way to New Orleans, stopping at the sizeable towns to preach the advantages of the lake-gulf waterway.

Upon reaching New Orleans, Mr. Thompson returned to Chicago, where the political pot was beginning to boil over. Then the crew deserted, one by one, thereby following the example of the cook who jumped ship at Peoria in fear, so it was said at the time, that no pay would be forthcoming.

BUTLER STAYS ON JOB AS HEAD OF G. O. P. COMMITTEE

Washington, D. C., Nov. 18.—William M. Butler announced today he would not resign the chairmanship of the Republican national committee when he takes his seat next month as a senator from Massachusetts. There were indications that this decision was reached after a conference with President Coolidge, with whom Mr. Butler has been in consultation since his arrival here yesterday.

NAVAL AID TO WILSON DENIED SEPARATION WRIT

New York, Nov. 18.—Lieutenant Commander Rowland M. Comfort, U. S. N., who was naval aid on the staff of President Wilson, failed to gain an annulment of his marriage to Helen Edson McFadden Comfort in the Supreme court in Brooklyn today.

Justice Hagarty dismissed the complaint of the naval officer on motion of Mrs. Comfort's attorney, William H. Butler, who later said she soon would file an action in separation and seek a court order granting her the custody of her 4-year old child.

Comfort asked the annulment on the allegations that his wife had concealed from him that she was subject to epileptic attacks and that she had been disloyal to the United States during the war. An evidence of her disloyalty he testified she had torn an American flag given her by Orville Wright. Mrs. Comfort produced the flag, untorn, in court.

'TOPSY' DUNCAN'S POLICEMAN FOE HIT IN TRUE BILL

Indictments charging assault with a deadly weapon were voted by the grand jury yesterday against Police Benjamin Delaney and Charles Widlock, members of the Cicero police force, on the complaint of Rosetta Duncan, actress, who is alleged to have been beaten by the policemen last Fourth of July.

A "no bill" was voted for Charles Steinko, another Cicero policeman, who arrested Harold Duncan, brother of the actress, in Cicero for violation of a traffic ordinance.

After testifying before the jury, Miss Duncan and her party spent a short time visiting Acting State's Attorney George E. Gorman and thanked the prosecutor for the action taken by that office.

Dawes Smokes at Ease Amid Hospital Flowers

Brig. Gen. Charles G. Dawes, Vice President elect, smoked another tin of tobacco yesterday. He did not wake up until 8 a. m. Dr. William R. Parkes, his physician, assured him he was entirely out of danger. The general's room at the Evanston hospital remained filled with flowers, although he sent two dozen floral gifts to the wards.

GIRL'S STORY OF ROGERS' DEATH IS MADE PUBLIC

Fatal Auto Accident Told to Coroner.

New Haven, Conn., Nov. 18.—The story of the death of Charles G. Rogers, bond salesman and nephew of Mrs. Ogden Mills Reid of New York City, as told by Miss Marjorie Schneider, his companion, was made public today when Coroner Eli Mix filed his report of the evidence taken in the case. Rogers was killed on the night of Nov. 1, when he and Miss Schneider were returning to this city after having dinner at an inn in Wallingford.

Coroner Mix's decision stated that no criminal responsibility could be attached to the death of Rogers. Miss Schneider in her story to the coroner admitted having "one Scotch highball" in the city before going to Wallingford after the Yale-Army football game, but said she had nothing intoxicating to drink at Wallingford.

Met Friend in Restaurant. According to Miss Schneider's story, she and Rogers attended the football game, then visited a restaurant in this city and left for Wallingford, Miss Schneider driving. She said that she did not see Rogers drink anything at the inn, but that she suspected that he had been by his actions.

While at the inn, her story continued, she met a friend whom she had not seen for several months, Wardwell Jones, of New York. She said she was glad to see him that she had sent a note to him asking him to meet her outside. They sat in her car and talked for half an hour, she said, and then she returned to the dining room.

Asked by the coroner whether Rogers expressed any objections to her going outside with Jones, Miss Schneider said she could not remember, but remarked that he "was very happy."

Shortly after that, about 10 o'clock, Miss Schneider's story continued, they started for home, she again driving. On the way home, she said, it was foggy, and she had difficulty in seeing the road. They both had their heads out of the car watching the road ahead, she said.

Admits Attempt at Kiss. That Rogers tried to kiss her once was admitted by Miss Schneider. "I told him not to," she said. "And I pushed him away and I know that he didn't insist. Whether he did that again I don't know, but the people that came and took him in said that I kept saying he tried to kiss me and I pushed him away. That is something I do not remember saying."

"The last thing I remember," her story continued, "was hearing glass crash and after that it was just a black until I found myself standing inside the car on the right hand side. I was on the ground and saw Mr. Rogers in front of me hanging over the right hand door of the car, his feet outside and his head and shoulders inside."

Miss Schneider said she did not recall any vehicle passing and that she was not conscious of colliding with anything.

Saw Another Car Nearby. Mrs. Ruth W. Hulse of this city, who was one of the first to reach the Schneider car after the accident and who drove the machine to this city after Rogers had been taken to the hospital was called by the coroner. Questioned about what she saw near the scene of the car, she replied that she saw another automobile, a gray sedan, which was down in the ditch. It came out of the ditch and drove away, she testified.

Mrs. Hulse said she saw Miss Schneider drink something at the inn, but that she didn't know what it was. Asked if Miss Schneider had more than one drink, she replied that she thought she did. She declared she believed Rogers was under the influence of intoxicants.

TELLS HOW 'GOLD CURE' BAFFLES WHITE PLAGUE

Acts Best on Youths, Dane Doctor Says.

BY JOHN AHL-NIELSEN.

(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)

(Copyright: 1924: By The Chicago Tribune.)

COPENHAGEN, Denmark, Nov. 18.

Prof. Secher, who is associated with Prof. Holger Moellgaard, discoverer of sanocryne or "gold cure" for tuberculosis, told the press today that he had used the remedy with apparent success in treating different forms of tuberculosis. He confessed, however, that it was impossible yet to give any final judgment, since time alone can demonstrate the eventual efficacy of the cure.

Prof. Secher started using the new gold solution in November, 1924. It later was introduced into most Danish hospitals. All sorts of lung disease complications were cured, he said, except the most severe ones.

Deep settled chronic forms are more difficult to cure, but it can be done, provided the patient's stamina is not undermined to such an extent that he would be unable to stand the strain of the sanocryne.

The most hopeful aspects of the cure have been wrought in children whose organisms are not yet fully developed as in adults.

"We have tried sanocryne on all branches of tuberculosis," Prof. Secher said, "but about the future health of those cured we cannot yet say anything, because time alone can show." One of Prof. Secher's most interesting cures is that of a Danish actress, Gerda Madsen, who, when interviewed by the Tribune correspondent today, said the cure took three months and was successful. Miss Madsen declared the cure is very uncomfortable, but is wonderful in its effects. After a three months' cure she was ordered to take a month's vacation, and is now feeling entirely well.

Prof. Secher confessed that the cure has claimed some lives because the patients were insufficiently strong to endure the reaction of the sanocryne on the tubercular poisons in their systems.

AMNESTY VOTE TO CAILLAUX SHOWS HERRIOT ON TOP

French Senate Supports
Premier's Plea.

BY HENRY WALES.

(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)
PARIS, Nov. 18.—Radical Socialists scored an impressive victory in the senate today when Joseph Caillaux, former premier, who was charged with obstructing the prosecution of the war, was granted amnesty by a vote of 176 to 194. Louis Malvy, former minister of the interior, who was convicted of having had communication with the enemy, likewise was given amnesty by 185 to 62.

The result indicates the strength of Premier Herriot's cabinet is greater than was suspected, and places the premier firmly in the saddle for the coming debates on the breaking off of relations with the Vatican, recognition of the soviets, and reduction in military service.

After President Doumergue had signed the amnesty bill, passed some time ago by the chamber of deputies, M. Caillaux is expected immediately to reënter public life. He will either get a place in the Herriot cabinet or be made special adviser to the minister of finance.

Poincare Speaks for Malvy.
Former Premier Poincare abandoned his announced intention of combating amnesty for MM. Caillaux and Malvy and spoke unexpectedly in favor of the latter after remaining absent from his seat in the senate during the Caillaux hallooing.

"I must state that I never personally had any knowledge of any action on the part of M. Malvy indicating a lack of patriotism," M. Poincare said just before the vote when he was summoned by Senator Tisserand, a Socialist, to make his position clear.

Tremendous applause from M. Herriot's supporters greeted M. Poincare's willingness and readiness to work in harmony with the present government and his disapproval of former President Millerand's new bloc, most of whose members were recruited from among M. Poincare's former henchmen.

Let's Forget Herriot Pleads.
Gen. Stuhl, in opposing amnesty, attempted to read "letters from fathers of sons killed in the war."
"They were answered in the May 11 elections," shouted the left, drowning out Gen. Stuhl.

M. Herriot then interposed, saying: "The moment has come to draw the veil over certain affairs of which political differences were the foundation."

Guillaume Pouille cried: "Victorious France is strong enough to grant this measure of amelioration."
As a result of the vote, M. Caillaux, who was banished from Paris, is now free to return to the capital whenever he wishes, and M. Malvy, who was banished from France for seven years and who was selected a deputy last May, is permitted to take up his functions.

SWEDISH CANAL

STOCKHOLM, Nov. 18.—Two important events in Sweden's shipping world, coming almost coincidentally, are the opening of the new Soder-tälje canal and the announcement that the Stockholm free port is to be transferred to a company under municipal control.

The new canal, which has been completed after eighty years of work at a cost of $4,000,000, was opened with formal ceremony in the presence of King Gustaf. The canal is a short cut from the Baltic sea to Lake Mälaren and is an important part of the Gotha canal system of inland waterways, "the blue belt of Sweden," which connects Stockholm and Gothenburg.

The free port of Stockholm, which has been managed by a corporation, is now to be taken over by the city of Stockholm, according to a decision announced. It was announced at the same time that a public appropriation of 5,000,000 kroner, about $1,340,000, would be made in order to enlarge and carry on the activity of the free port.

N. Y. GANGSTER HELD BY CROWE IN GUN INQUIRY

Uale the father of two, they said, and they gave themselves excellent reputations.

Uale Often in Trouble.
New York police gave this "record" to Chicago authorities:

"Uale, an undertaker, figured in many crimes in Brooklyn during the last ten years.

"Uale has no record, but is known to be a close friend of Uale."

"Uale, who is known in New York as 'Uale,' has been arrested for a variety of crimes ranging from disorderly conduct to murder. He escaped conviction on all but the murder charge, but has served only two months of a twenty-year sentence when two men confessed to the crime and he was released.

For years Uale ran a cabaret at Chicago Island known as Harvard Inn. He was known as a philanthropist in the Italian quarter where he lived. It was said that he bought coal for poor families in winter and helped them in many ways.

Zimmer in Charge.
Deputy Superintendent of Police Matthew Zimmer took charge yesterday of the identification and questioning of the 179 suspicious characters picked up by the police during last night's raids. Detective bureau squads arrested fifty persons, unable to give accounts of their means of obtaining money.

Desplaining street police found eighty-five. Twenty-nine were brought into the Stanton avenue station. The Cottage Grove avenue district police added fifteen to the total.

Permits issued them by justices of the peace upon releases for most of these found with revolvers. Fletcher, colored, living at 3256 Prairie avenue was fined $100 and posted by Judge Harris in the South Clark street court, when he admitted carrying a pair of brass knuckles.

"We are going to keep after gunmen and gangsters until we have driven them from the town," Zimmer declared to detectives at the bureau. He surrounded them by appearing before the morning showup of the prisoners taken in the night's raids.

"This is a week-end campaign and it will continue for 365 days of the year."

Wants Innocent Protected.
There must be a let-up in the prosecution of apparently innocent persons. That does not help to clean the town and simply forces the public to mistrust our intentions and our sincerity."

"The work of the Chicago police department during the administration of Chief Collins has been the most brilliant example of police efficiency, generally speaking, to be found anywhere in the country," Mayor Dever declared, reiterating his denials that the chief was to be superseded because of the complaints of disgruntled politicians.

J. V. MAC MURRAY OF NEW JERSEY IS MADE AID TO SECY HUGHES

Washington, D. C., Nov. 18.—President Coolidge today appointed John Van A. MacMurray of New Jersey an assistant secretary of state.

Mr. MacMurray has been for a number of years at the head of the department's far eastern division and is a recognized authority on questions of the orient.

In his new post he succeeds the late A. A. Adee. He probably will give special attention to relations with China and Japan.

The new assistant secretary entered the diplomatic service in 1907, becoming secretary of the legation at Bangkok. Later he filled posts in the capitals of Greece, Montenegro, and Russia. He was made chief of the near eastern division in 1912. A year later he went to Peking as secretary of the American legation, and in 1917 was transferred to Tokyo as counselor of the American embassy there.

Mr. MacMurray is 43 years old and was educated in law at Princeton and Columbia. He is a native of Schenectady, N. Y., but at the time of his appointment to the diplomatic service he was living in Princeton, N. J.

ROYAL CHILDREN OF JAPAN MAY FOLLOW HEARTS

(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)
TOKIO, Nov. 18.—The rule requiring intermarriage of the few highest families was abrogated yesterday, permitting imperial princes to seek brides where their hearts lead.

The age old custom requiring child betrothals with engagement periods of at least ten years in the future will be dispensed with.

Prince Asaakira, heir to the Kunita, now 24 years old, recently made it known that he had no desire to marry Lady Kikuko, sister of Count Sakai, to whom he has been betrothed twelve years. This unprecedented move has created the widest public interest.

Yesterday the imperial permission to break a royal betrothal was granted, with an intimation that hereafter a wide selection of brides by princes was permissible.

Today Princess Nobuko, younger daughter of Prince Kuni, arrayed in an ancient ceremonial costume, paid a farewell call to her brother-in-law, Prince Regent Hirohito, before her marriage to the heir of Count Sanjo, who is not of imperial blood, thus sacrificing her imperial status. The incident is highly significant.

OPEN ANOTHER CITY-FARMER FRUIT MARKET

The third of a series of fruit and vegetable markets to sell direct from the farmer to the consumer will be opened tomorrow at 5556 Lake Park avenue by Michigan producers and city officials.

L. A. Boyd, manager of the grower-consumer direct sales plan working in cooperation with the Chicago high cost committee, announced yesterday a complete line of fruits and vegetables will be displayed at the new market.

The stock includes two carloads of apples, pears, grapefruit, and oranges, and white and sweet potatoes, celery, cauliflower, cabbage, onions, peppers, carrots, spinach, squash, and pumpkins.

The grower-consumer market which has been operated at the Municipal pier since Sept. 1 was closed Monday because of cold weather. It will be opened again next spring. The market at 924 street and the Baltimore and Ohio tracks in South Chicago will be kept open during the winter. Other markets will be established as soon as arrangements can be made.

ROBBED BY TRIO IN ALLEY.
Adam Pohl, 1315 Wicker Park avenue, was robbed of $5 and his watch by three men in an alley near North Wood street and Milwaukee avenue last night.

Permanent roads are a good investment—not an expense

There are 16,000,000 motor vehicles in the United States—approximately 90 per cent of all in the world.

This total is being increased at the rate of 4,000,000 a year.

What is the saturation point?

Ask any one of the 16,000,000 motorists trying to make headway through the countless traffic jams on some of our concrete highways. He will tell you, from the standpoint of comfort and safety in driving, the saturation point is already in sight.

Not a very encouraging outlook, is it, for the man about to buy his first automobile?

So you see car owners and prospective car owners are both interested—and have an immediate task confronting them.

What are you going to do about it? Even now you are curtailing the use of your car because you do not want to endure the discomfort, inconvenience and danger of traveling on congested, narrow highways.

Your highway officials need your support. They can't do much unless you stand squarely behind them.

To delay building more highways wide enough and strong enough to meet all the requirements of modern traffic will cost you more money than will an adequate system of Concrete Roads and Streets.

Pierce-Arrow Trucks insure a milk supply to four towns

Mr. Roger Howard of Beacon, N. Y., operates two Pierce-Arrow trucks equipped with unusually large van bodies. Each truck picks up over 100 cans of milk at three o'clock every morning in Fishkill and delivers them to four other towns. The last creamery must be reached by 10:30 A. M. The daily round trip is 125 miles, the first part of the run being made through the Fishkill Mountains where in winter snowdrifts are often encountered.

One truck has traveled about 80,000 miles—the other about 65,000 miles. Both are still operating daily. Gasoline mileage is over 6 miles per gallon—tire mileage averages 20,000 miles per wheel.

Each truck has been so free from carbon trouble that they have run distances of 25,000 miles without having valves ground or carbon removed.

We would like to tell you what silent, powerful Pierce-Arrow trucks are doing in your line of business.

DR. SUN ENTER SHANGHAI WITH CHIP ON SHOULDER

Says China Mustn't Foreigners Run Nat

BY JOHN POWELL
(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)

SHANGHAI, China, Nov. 18.—Sun Yat-sen, head of the south government, arrived here yesterday and although officials of the settlements offered no obstruction to his entrance, he immediately gave an interview stating that as these citizens had a right wherever he pleased and if he dared oppose or obstruct his entrance, he was determined to take drastic steps to deal with them.

"It must be remembered that Chinese are not to be trifled with as we dwell in our own territory," Dr. Sun said. "The time when all foreign settlements in China should be abolished and the unhappy is bound to have some of the powers do not cringing upon China."

Watches His Step.
In spite of Dr. Sun's views regarding the foreign settlements of China, he refrained from entering Chinese territory here, now dominated by his political Marshal Ch' Hsueh-yuan of the for immediately upon landing to a house in the French concession.

Dr. Sun also gave his views upon the unification of China by attacking the powers. He stated that extraterritorial treaties must be modified and that the powers force China into the position of a colony.

Diagnoses Domestic Issue.
With regard to domestic issues, Dr. Sun stated that the central government must be fully delineated, that local must be established and that rural, industrial and business nations must be given aid in the country.

DR. SUN ENTERS SHANGHAI WITH CHIP ON SHOULDER

Says China Mustn't Let Foreigners Run Nation.

BY JOHN POWELL.

SHANGHAI, China, Nov. 18.—Dr. Sun Yat-sen, head of the south China government, arrived here yesterday, and although officials of the foreign settlements offered no obstruction to his entrance, he immediately gave out an interview stating that as a Chinese citizen he had a right to go wherever he pleased and if foreigners dared oppose or obstruct his activities in Shanghai, he was determined to take drastic steps to deal with them.

"It must be remembered that we Chinese are not to be trifled with so long as we dwell in our own territories," Dr. Sun said. "The time has come when all foreign settlements in China should be abolished and something unhappy is bound to happen if some of the powers do not cease interfering upon China."

Watches His Step.
In spite of Dr. Sun's expressed views regarding the foreign settlements of China, he refrained from entering Chinese territory here, which is now dominated by the political enemy, Marshal Chi Hsiang-shan of Kiangsu, immediately upon landing he went to a house in the French concession.

British Food Prices Climb 80%; Cabinet Plans Inquiry

BY JOHN STEELE.

(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)
(Copyright: 1924: By The Chicago Tribune.)
LONDON, Nov. 18.—One of the first tasks to be tackled by the new cabinet when it meets tomorrow is to arrange for the appointment of a royal commission to investigate the rising food prices against which the people are clamoring.

Retail food prices are now 80 per cent higher than in 1914, and are still rising. Only yesterday a further rise of seven points was recorded and there is a strong belief that the rise are not justified by world mercantile conditions, but are due to the operations of trusts or rings of profiteers.

Baldwin Pledged Inquiry.
Prime Minister Baldwin during the election campaign promised an investigation consisting of Sir Arthur Phillips Lloyd-Graeme of the board of trade, Mr. Elwood of the ministry of agriculture, and Sir William Johnson-Hicks of the home office have been considering the preliminary steps. They will report tomorrow that the investigation should take the form of a royal commission, which has the power to compel witnesses to give evidence under oath.

Unless something is done soon to meet this question of the high cost of living, the Baldwin government is in for a serious outburst, of labor trouble. Machine drivers are threatening to strike, which would tie up all the railways and the London electricians also are demanding an increase in pay, threatening to tie up all power and lighting plants unless they get it. The coal miners also are restless.

Fear Russian Intrigue.
This is one of the reasons why the government is so concerned about the activities of soviet agents. It is not feared that they will ever be able to turn the British working men into bolsheviks, but it is feared that with the aid of Moscow money and a few home grown communists, they may be able to turn the scale between a strike and industrial peace in many industries.

There are hopeful signs of a rapid turn to prosperity in many trades which will enable the employers to meet the legitimate demands of the workmen.

Wu Peifu, brought about the latter's downfall, is causing Chang to desire to come to Peking on the twentieth for the purpose of settling up Tzu Chi-jui, Anlu leader and former premier, as dictator and removing the present cabinet.

? HOVERS OVER AUSTRIA AS NEW RULER STEPS IN

BY JOHN CLAYTON.

(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)
(Copyright: 1924: By The Chicago Tribune.)
VIENNA, Nov. 18.—With the definite resignation of Chancellor Seipel and the formation of a new cabinet by Herr Rudolph Ramek, Austria enters a period of uncertainty which today found immediate reflection in financial and political circles.

The press with one voice expresses a fear that admission of failure to carry through the financial reconstruction program laid down at Geneva and the failure to materialize American loans for provincial and private development of industry, which had been promised, were the reasons behind

Mr. Seipel's refusal to continue his work. It is stated he found it impossible to pursue successfully the economic policies laid down by the league.

Opposed by Bankers.
Opposition of bankers within his own party and of officials in general to a budget of $100,000,000 for next year proved insurmountable. Mr. Seipel was faced with the necessity of informing the league that he could not keep the promises made at Geneva or of handing over the work to some other leader.

There were two other reasons of lesser importance, either of which he could have overcome had he received assurances that the provincial authorities would cooperate in decreasing local budgets by discharging unnecessary petty officials. There was opposition within his own party—the Christian Socialist—which found root in Mr. Seipel's bitter fight against speculation and profiteering in every form and which injured financially many members of the party who had profited from Austria's situation, and the fact that the chancellor's health.

Ver Seipel himself proposed as his successor his most bitter opponent within the Christian Socialist party for the chancellorship.

Speculators Get Busy.
The stock exchange today was feverish and uncertain, with heavy trading. The speculators are marshaling their forces for a new onslaught against the krona which would make possible the "happy conditions" of the inflation period brought to an end by Mr. Seipel.

Herr Ramek promises to follow Mr. Seipel's reconstruction policies, a promise which is impossible to keep until the various members of the Austrian federation agree to centralized financial control, which will equalize taxation and make impossible a situation existing today in which the city of Vienna has a surplus of $11,000,000, while all other departments of the Austrian state have heavy deficits.

Dr. Zimmermann, commissioner of the league, issued a statement which, while couched in friendly language, was an unmistakable warning to Herr Ramek that the Geneva protocol must be fulfilled. He said he did not wish to mix in internal politics, but he took occasion to say that his relations with Mr. Seipel had been of the best.

"Black Hawk," chief actor in the war that bears his name (1831-1882) was one of America's first "self-made men." Though neither a hereditary nor an elected chief, his great bravery and personal magnetism caused him to be recognized as their war leader by the Sauk and Fox tribes.

That period furnished some of the most stirring events in the history of the Mississippi Valley. Lincoln took up arms against the redoubtable warrior. Colonels Henry Dodge and James D. Henry with their Michigan volunteers defeated him at Wisconsin Heights, opposite Prairie du Sac. Following that he was decisively defeated by General Atkinson and later captured by a band of Winnebagoes. He was released in 1857 and settled on the Sauk and Fox reservation in Iowa, where he died the next year.

In this section today the building of forts and stockades has given place to the construction of homes, skyscrapers and great public improvements. In many of these Marquette Cement is privileged to play a leading part.

DEVER CALLS ON SLOAN TO RUSH LA SALLE PLAN

Holds Widening City's Biggest Need.

Early reopening of public hearings proposed La Salle street improvement, which were postponed by the board of local improvements until March 27, 1925, was directed by Mayor Dever yesterday after a conference with Charles H. Wacker, chairman of the Chicago Plan commission.

Notwithstanding the consent of nearly 75 per cent of affected property owners to plans for widening the street to 108 feet between Ohio street and Lincoln park, the improvement board under President John J. Sloan, decided to delay the project until it was seen whether the city will be given new bonding power by the legislature.

Mayor Dever held a plan essential. Mr. Sloan planned to push ahead plans for widening La Salle street between Washington and Ohio streets to 120 feet. Ordinances for this phase of the improvement are pending in committee.

"I told Mr. Sloan that the improvement of La Salle street is the most important single project now before us," the mayor declared yesterday. "I told him that nothing should be allowed to interfere with preparations so that actual work of widening might begin as soon as possible. And if it is improved at all, the portion north of Ohio street should be 108 feet wide, as originally planned."

Mr. Sloan sought to point out to me that about $25,000,000 is needed to complete improvements now under way. I pointed out to him that the widening of Ashland avenue, Western avenue and Lake streets far removed from congested areas must wait, if necessary.

May Seek Bond Stretch. It is probable that the city will seek legislation doubling the present bonding limit of $5,000,000 this winter. If we are successful, this will permit us to go ahead with all of the jobs. If we fail, we will go ahead with La Salle street anyway, and finish the others afterward."

Mr. Sloan has favored contentions of a minority of the property owners of Ohio street who would have the present roadway increased to fifty-four feet by taking twelve feet from backways on either side of the street. While the minority insists that such an improvement would be economical, the Chicago Plan commission as well as the majority of the property owners protest that a bottle-neck for traffic would be created at Ohio street.

SEES U. S.-JAP FIGHT BEHIND OPIUM PARLEY

Tokio Aids Smuggler, Geneva Paper Says.

GENEVA, Nov. 18.—[By Associated Press.]—Delegates to the international opium conference, in session here, exhibited considerable interest today in what was regarded as a sensational worded article in the conservative Geneva newspaper, the Journal De Geneve, entitled "Opium and the United States."

Although the United States did not participate in the first conference on far eastern opium problems, the editorial alleges that the slow death of that conference represents a new episode in the struggle between Japan and the United States which has almost caused the ruin of the league of nations' protocol for the pacific settlement of international disputes.

Smugglers Drug Into U. S. The newspaper alleges that, although the Japanese by draconian methods have succeeded in preserving themselves from the opium vice, they nevertheless import huge quantities of the narcotic to manufacture morphine which they later smuggle into China and the United States.

The article insists that the United States actually is in the present conference, as she was by implication in the preceding far eastern opium conference, will find herself in opposition with the interests of Japan and India. It concludes with the fervent hope that the second conference may succeed.

Defends Peria's Poppy Growers. The nations cannot expect with one stroke of the pen to deprive multitudes of the Persian people of a livelihood by suppressing opium cultivation in Persia, declared Prince Arta Ed Dowleh of Persia before the conference this afternoon. He said he favored the objects of The Hague opium convention, but pointed out that many thousands of Persians now dependent upon the cultivation must be assured of a means of existence. He would later bring forward concrete suggestions, he said.

Persia, China, Turkey, and India are the countries which produce the world's opium supply.

Delegate Sugimura of Japan predicted an agreement would be reached here in Geneva. He told the conference that Japan's consumption of opium in Japan proper, in Formosa, and in the Kwangtung leased territory was strictly limited to medical and scientific purposes.

Senator Harrison Fails to Attend Local Banquet. Instance that all of the 75,000 southern born men and women of Chicago unite for the good of their adopted city and for the preservation of their inherited ideals was made by former Gov. Edwin P. Morrow of Kentucky, last night at the second annual dinner of the Southern Society of Chicago at the Drake hotel. Senator Harrison, of Mississippi, and Mayor Dever, scheduled as principal speakers, sent their regrets. Rudolph Belcher was chairman.

What You Should Know about a baby's care

Illness is usually due to constipation. Quickly give half a teaspoonful of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin.

THE young mother should watch which foods the baby relishes most, which foods and their quantity cause distress, and act accordingly.

The good health of a baby is largely a matter of intelligent attention to diet. Nevertheless, in spite of your efforts you will sometimes notice hatching, flatulence, wind and symptoms of colicky pain.

Give half a teaspoonful of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, and thereafter vary the offending food. Syrup Pepsin is a laxative admirably suited to infants and children, as it is mild and wholly free from opiates and narcotics.

If you delay in giving it you will soon find the baby suffering from constipation, and the baby may lead to more serious illness. Half a teaspoonful promptly given will avoid trouble.

Many thousands of mothers have never given their babies any other medicine but Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin and they have successfully raised large and sturdy families. The formula is not a secret, being a combination of Egyptian acacia with pepsin, and agreeable aromatics. The ingredients are stated on the package. Mrs. Dewey Walker, Elida, N. M., and Mrs. B. Higginbotham, Otter Creek, Fla., are among the many who are firm believers that Syrup Pepsin has kept their families and themselves in good health.

No family with young children can afford to be without it.

out such a household medicine. It is effective, beneficial and safe regardless of your age and has been considered so for over thirty years. In consequence it is today the largest selling liquid laxative in the world, over 10 million bottles being sold annually.

You will find that Syrup Pepsin quickly brings relief in the severest chronic constipation, in biliousness, lack of appetite, sleeplessness, headache, cankers, bad breath, and to stop a cold or fever.

Every druggist sells it, and the cost on the average is less than a cent a dose. It is guaranteed to be effective in these symptoms or your money will be refunded.

BY WALLACE ABBEY.

Many track athletes who in the past have confined their efforts to the dashes and short distance events are showing interest in this Tribune's annual cross country run and will try their skill over the longer course in Washington Park when the event is held Sunday, Nov. 30, at 2 o'clock.

The case of La Verne H. Stearns of the Comrades A. C. of Blue Island will illustrate the manner in which athletes are responding to this Tribune's efforts to encourage participation in cross country running. Stearns' entry was received yesterday.

More Entries Arrive.
This will be the first cross country run I have entered," Stearns writes, "and I certainly will do my best to finish among the first. I recently completed a 100 mile run and won the half mile in 2:16. I want to develop into a long distance runner and am glad this Tribune is giving me this opportunity."

Entries continued to pour in yesterday and it is expected that a record will respond to the start's gun. Many clubs were represented in the entries, including the Comrades A. C., the Warren A. C., the Polish Falcons No. 2, and the Jewish Peoples' institute. Many unattached runners also registered.

Dad Power to Run.
Among the unattached entries was that of D. P. Dad Power, a veteran of the Comrades A. C. Power writes that he had competed in six events of a similar nature in Davenport, Ia., and won five, finishing third once. All of these races were over a seven mile course, while the course of this Tribune's event will be of between four and five miles in length.

Apply for Section.
Application was made yesterday to Louis B. Reitzman, secretary of the registration committee of the Central A. A. U., for a section under which to hold the event. All competitors must be members of this governing body of amateur sports. They may sign by payment of a nominal fee. Applicants desiring to enter will find a blank on the sports pages with the necessary directions. Teams may be entered on a single card or on cards signed by a reliable official. DUNDEE TO GO AFTER HIS OWN RING TITLE

TRIBUNE DECISIONS

Decisions of Tribune boxing representatives are:
At Fulton, Conn.—Cody vs. Morris and Lewis. Flawless round draw (12).
At Reading, Pa.—Newberry Brown and Ed Wells. Round draw (12).
At Albany, N. Y.—Robert Young and Fred Brown. Round draw (12).

BY HARRY NEWMAN.
New York, Nov. 18.—(Special.)—Johnny Dundee is going to sneak into the featherweight fight and tell the boys he was only fooling when he retired from that class last summer, leaving his title behind for the other members to peg at.

First of all, Johnny is to go to Europe, where he expects to engage some of the eggs over there in a few whiffs with the gloves. Then, if the veteran finds he can make the weight, he will hop back here to mix with the most likely candidate for a crack at the title.

Danny Kramer, the southpaw from Philadelphia, and Louis Kid Kautz of Connecticut are putting the big fight from the boys' side of the ring. Kramer is to meet Mike Dundee, the western seizer, and a fourth opponent, Kautz has drawn Bobby Garcia.

The New York boxing commission had a lot of the boys on the carpet today all sitting at once about the court to fight Tommy Gibson Dec. 8. The commission said that O. E. on Ed Kautz, the colored brawler.

LEE L. MILES, head of the Yellow "drive it yourself" system in Chicago, is authority for the statement that four out of every six men in the Chicago district who do not own automobiles are qualified to operate cars. Two of every six women in the district among the so-called pedestrian are also thoroughly qualified to drive cars.

This interesting observation, which serves to add materially to the army of some 400,000 car owners and experienced drivers in Cook county, is the result of a recent survey among residents of Chicago and its four-state district who have not yet acquired automobiles.

W. T. Morris of Bridgeport, Conn., is the new president and Field O'Brien of Memphis is the new vice president of the Automotive Equipment association, whose annual convention and exhibit in Chicago last week set a national record for the accessory industry.

Do You want to adopt a Baby?

An Astonishing Revelation

by BRENDA UELAND

appears in this week's Liberty—Out Today

"At last—something to live for"—we hear them whisper, and gleefully foster parents slip out of the court-room, crooning over their new pride—a foster child.

Adoption! What is this custom, most strange of all in the human family?

Stranger still, what is that unquenchable instinct in woman—in man—that, famished, reaches out some time in life to satiate its hunger, even with the child of another?

If you, perhaps, are seeking to adopt a child, you will find in this absorbing article the curious ways of the "baby market." It tells what you must be, what you must do to merit one priceless human soul!

But even if you are not interested in adopting a baby, don't put aside this amazing chronicle on an aspect of human conduct that is at once Godly, tragic—and as Brenda Ueland relates it, one of the most amusing procedures in present day life.

It is another one of Liberty's big hits. Be sure to read it and the many other entertaining features in this week's

THE GUMPS—EASY? PAYMENTS

Red Riding Hood

By

RECAP.
Mrs. Morgan Schuyler, one of New York's leading philanthropic and social lights, is a young woman to work in her apartment mornings. The advertisement is placed by a girl evidently of birth and breeding. In spite of the fact that she admits a desire to hide her identity, Mrs. Schuyler accepts her as a trust and takes her with the name of Hope Emerson.

Mrs. Schuyler's family consists of her mother, Mrs. Van Doren, a young brother, Jim Van Doren, and an older brother, Bertie, who is away.

The second morning of her employment, Hope Emerson, after receiving a mysterious telephone call, Mrs. Schuyler summons Dr. Horace Osborne. Hope tells the doctor she is employed during the afternoon hours on East 70th street. He offers to drive her there, and by a strange coincidence, has an appointment at the house where Hope is employed. The patient is a boy of five years about, whose mother, Mrs. Schuyler, is mysteriously revived; the closest guardian is an uncle named Scowman. All of the members of this household are foreigners except Hope, who is known as Susan. A day or two later a visitor, Colonel Van Doren, a man of obvious importance, calls at Dr. 70th street house. Hope distrusts her new employer and decides to call on Dr. Osborne for help. He accompanies her to the house, where the two conspirators find Van Doren, who is in the room with the child. The colonel looks Hope and the doctor in the room with the child. They escape through a window and take the child to a hospital.

The next morning Sally Wallis calls on Hope at the Schuylers. She tells the secretary about her hopeless love affair. She says the man who just returned to New York after a long absence, and Sally learns he is ill in a hospital and being a serious operation. Hope enters the aid of Jim Van Doren on Sally's behalf. He admits he loves Sally and promises to keep her on her. Later in the day Hope finds Colonel Van Doren's secretary and learns that all the members of the household are leaving the country that night. The boy, Alexander, promises Hope with a valuable ring, and Sally tells Hope that the child is destined to rule over a small European country. Sally tells Sally that the man Sally thought she is in love with is her "wolf" and is brought home, seriously ill, and later he tells Hope he has planned their honeymoon. He is the wolf.

INSTALLMENT XVII

BERTIE MAKES A CONFESSION.
Something in that brought her to her feet and gave a flash of vitality to her dying courage. For a moment she stared down at him without fear. "If you've sent for me merely to torture me," she told him, "I won't stay. There's no reason why I should. And if you're inclined to get excited about it and snarl at me, remember that your mother is sleeping only a few yards away. I don't think she's sleeping soundly. She was awake when I left her half an hour ago.

"To Sally!"

The rumbling had an immediate effect on him. His heroic eyes left her face and shifted almost self-consciously. He did not speak, and she went on.

"I've changed my mind. After all, I have something to say, and I'm going to say it."

"Good!" he muttered.

"O, you won't like it. It's only this: I've been here a week, as, of course, you know, for your friends have had me shadowed. And I realize now that I came here through you—that you knew your sister meant to advertise for some one and that you had Scowman put the advertisement on my desk, and that it all worked out according to your plans. What I want to say is that ever since I came I've been admiring a man called Bertie, because his old mother so adored and worshiped him that she had to talk about him every minute. I'm wondering now what she'd think of him—if she saw us together."

"Leave my mother out of this—if you please!" The words came through the sick man's clenched teeth.

"I can't do that. We're friends, you see—your mother and I. She likes me. Half an hour ago she asked me to kiss her good night."

"Drop that! I tell you—drop it!" His voice rose and she made a quick gesture of warning.

"Very well," she agreed. "That's all I have to say. Now say what you have in mind and get it over. Terribly me, if that's what you started out to do. I don't doubt you can do it yet. I despise myself for being afraid of you, yet I am afraid. That pleases you, I know—so make the most of it!"

He moved and twisted restlessly. Evidently the effects of the drug he had taken were already beginning to wear off and he was in pain. Moreover, the reminder of his mother's nearness was not one he could ignore.

"Perhaps you needn't be afraid any more," he brought out; and as she remained silent he added sharply, "Hasn't that cheering reflection occurred to you? I'll bet it has!"

"Your valet says you're going to get well."

"Perkins!" he sneered. "Much he knows about it! Besides the wish is father to the thought—he doesn't want to lose his job. He's going to lose it just the same. He's been laid off already. What he says is 'to' he adds with sudden interest."

"To Sally?"

"To Sally! Good Lord, is that brat anywhere around?" His apprehension was so great as to be almost ludicrous. He struggled higher on his pillow, as if to protest more vigorously. To her own surprise, Hope heard herself remarking him.

"No, no. She's at home. But in some way she heard of your illness and she has been inquiring about you."

"O, he snuck back, relieved, and dropped Sally from his mind as one drops a stone into water. Hope could almost see her sinking below the level of his thoughts."

"There was something I wanted to tell you—you can't seem to remember—for-the-moment—what it was."

He brought out the words with an effort. To Hope the sudden change in him was amazing. At her entrance he had seemed almost natural, save for his pallor and emaciation. Now, obviously, the combined stimulation of the drug and of her presence was lessening rapidly. His great arms moved restlessly, his head waved from side to side on his pillow, and his long, narrow gray face showed deep cut lines of suffering.

"I intended to marry you, Anne," he abruptly told her. "Do you hear that? I meant to marry you!"

She looked at him in silence.

"Haven't you a little pity for me?" he demanded with another irrepressible groan.

"Did you ever show any pity for me? You never did. On the contrary, you resorted to the most devilish tricks to wear me down. A wolf's footprints brought to me by a man as fiendish as yourself! Why did you send them? To terrify me? A howl—an actual howl at me—through the telephone—sent to the home of the mother and sister who adore you. Why did you do those things? What had you to gain by them? Only the knowledge that you were torturing me—but that was enough for you."

"I wasn't myself," he muttered. "Haven't you the intelligence to realize that I've not been myself since the year before I met you. That's why I had to keep away from home so much—and avoid the family—and my best friends. Since this damned thing came on me—"

She caught at the words.

"What thing?"

"The thing that's killing me," he jerked out. "The thing that's been killing me for two years. Do you imagine I'm dying for love of you?" he mechanically asked and grinned at her as he spoke.

"I didn't know about that. How should I?"

"If you hadn't been so much absorbed in your own troubles, you'd have seen what was wrong. From the first I made things worse by drug after drug to ease the pain—and it was stuff made a devil of me. It does with some men, you know. I had to take big doses even at the start, and every dose made me a sort of maniac toward the people I care for. So I kept away from my family and my old friends—had to—no other way. Some of the new bunch knew about it. Funny you didn't hear."

Hope remained silent, but she watched him closely.

"And now the stuff doesn't help," he gasped out, as his agony increased. "Lost its effect, damn it—just when I most need it to see me through. O, you've avenged all right," he ended with a snarl. "But don't be too hopeful. I may get over this. I've had attacks before. Meantime, it's quite a sporting event—a fight between me and death, with you as the stake. That ought to interest you!"

The door opened and Osborne came in with needless steps. For a moment the man in the bed did not see him, but when the doctor spoke he turned back. This time the observer saw the reverse of the phenomenon she had witnessed before, but now it was the wolf that retreated before the newcomer, while the personality of Albert Dyckman frantically struggled upward to greet the chum. At last he was there. In the big bed lay the adored son of the chum, exhausted, agonized, but triumphant. He smiled at Osborne, and Hope saw the look that passed between the two men. This was friendship.

"Feeling pretty comfortable, old chap?"

He hardly knew Osborne's voice. He was speaking as he might have done to a suffering child, and Bertie Emerson smiled at the sound of his name.

CLOSEUPS

Production of "Déclasse," starring Corinne Griffith, will be started Dec. 1 at the United studios.

"The Maker of Gestures" will be Richard Dix's next picture for Paramount.

Sir James M. Barrie has, it is said, seen the first three reels of Paramount's adaptation of "Peter Pan" with Betty Bronson, and is "delighted."

Wouldn't be any fun—for you—would it? All you need to know before you see the picture is that Billy Benson, ragamuffin first, later Boy Scout, and Brownie, the dog, after a lot of exciting, laughable—and sad—adventures engineer matters so that the village that scorned the Benson family, changes its attitude completely. When the last reel ends, Mrs. Benson, no longer takes in washing. Mr. Benson no longer becomes dizzy and Billy, well, Billy and Brownie are heroes and Judge Fawcett and Judge Fawcett's small daughter add just the touch. (A wretched little girl, Judge Fawcett's daughter. And HOW she sticks up for Billy all through the picture!)

I think you'll like "The Good Bad Boy" as a whole—lots.

If you do—or if you don't—why don't you write and tell me? Do! See you tomorrow!

By Mae Tins.

Good morning!

My dear boys and girls:

This is a personal letter to you because I think "The Good Bad Boy" was made most especially for YOU. Not that your folks won't probably enjoy it too—but it's YOUR picture. And dear knows it's time you were getting some exclusive attention from the movie makers!

This good, bad boy they tell about was just that—good and bad. A pretty tough little fellow with the part of him that had to face the world. He didn't want to be tough but when everybody picked on a kid that just because he gets dizzy spells after drinking from a bottle, why is he sort of up to him, he figures, to protect that dad, who is after all a really fine gentleman—and, as you find out later, a brilliant one.

Billy has a loyal supporter in his battles. Who? Him! Brownie—the dog. Such a diplomat is Brownie that I suspect we would have had no war had he been called to court with the powers. He is a master of intrigue with a tail that can catch fish and a brain that tells him the easiest and most comical way of reducing The Big Dog to panic and demoralized retreat.

One of the funniest things you've ever seen in a movie is the incident in which the villain brings his hound to put an end to Brownie. Brownie leaps through the window. The big dog goes after him. In a few moments the big dog comes tearing through the window and Brownie is close behind—Brownie and his gang—all of them laughing—I give you my word!

I don't think I'm going to tell you much of the story because that

Reformed Flapper Tells Us About Her Change of Heart

BY DORIS BLAKE.

A protest came in to me recently against the use of the word flapper. "Don't you know that technically the flapper went out some time ago," the young man writes. "The pendulum is swinging the other way. A girl's shrewdness tells her flapperism didn't pay well after all. She might be attracted to look upon, but from a man's standpoint the lure didn't last. She began to realize that she looked like a poor investment to the average man. And being regarded as a good investment is at the bottom of every girl's concern, whether she admits it or not."

This young man, it is true, said in a few plain words what is being said and written much more elaborately, but with the same basic idea, through the country.

A young girl said much the same thing to me, except that she was speaking from personal experience.

"For about four years," she said, "I have been about as wild and reckless a dapper as you could find. I gloried in what I called my freedom. I escaped from the lid my parents had imposed, and I went the pace. I adopted all sorts of poses. Nothing could shock or surprise me. I said whatever popped into my mind to startle the older crowd. I jested and speeded and wasn't happy unless I was under the spotlight."

"After a while I began to see it wasn't getting me anywhere. I guess I had ideas back of it all, only I thought it was awfully old-fashioned to admit having them. I knew the sort of man I admired and wanted some day to marry, but while I whirled a merry whirl all right, the men who proposed matrimony weren't those I'd consider. And, frankly, most of them didn't propose."

"Finally what I wanted was to meet a man I did want enormously to like me. But he couldn't see me, thought I wasn't worth the noticing, and it finally got to me that being what I was wasn't doing it."

"Once that fact registered, I did what you'd call a sort of lightning change act. I subsided. I quieted down. Having got as far away from all the old ideas and having had my fling, I decided to get back a little, before I had gone too far."

"I still drive a car, would rather hear the radio than read, and have no intention of knitting or going around looking pale. My lipstick and I still keep company, but I don't look like a chorus girl all made up for the first act number."

"And I don't pretend to a lot of things in which I don't really believe. I'm marrying pretty soon, the man I'm in love with and who couldn't see me at all a year ago. And I've swung around to the idea too, that I mean to make a go of it. I've got the notion that staying married is merely being a good sport. And that's what I want to be—a good sport, not a bad one."

DORIS BLAKE ANSWERS

Jealousy's Always Bad.
"Dear Miss Blake: I am a girl of 17 and considered pretty and attractive. I have blonde hair and blue eyes. I am keeping steady company with a fellow eight years my senior, who seems to be jealous of me, although he claims he loves me. I am not allowed to converse with any other fellow, and I am kept strict. Is there any possible way of my giving me advice?"

"Blonde."
"Blonde, don't let this chap's jealous disposition interfere with your making friends and having the fun you are entitled to. Seventeen is the age to make friends and mingle with them. If he objects, then cut him off your list. There are others to take his place, I am sure, dear."

Kissing Taboo.
"Dear Miss Blake: I have loved a girl for about three months, and I asked her for a kiss one night. She let me kiss her, but when I asked her to kiss me she said no, but admitted she loves me. What would you advise me to do?"

Puzzle.
"Puzzle, unless you wish to lose out with this young lady, it would be well to eliminate the topic of kissing from your conversation. Be content knowing that she cares for you, and show your appreciation by treating her with all the respect that is due her, son."

EMBARRASSING MOMENTS

Perils of Halloween.
It was Halloween, and I had been invited to a party at the house of a friend who had recently moved. I set out for my destination knowing nothing whatever about the street. At last I reached a house brightly lighted, and concluded it was the place. Seeing several other guests arriving, I followed them up a ladder which was placed at a window.

Then the fun started. Every one was masked, and many clever costumes were worn. About an hour was spent in frivolity; then came the edict to unmask.

To my astonishment, all my companions were strangers. I realized I had made a great mistake, and instantly became painfully embarrassed. Some one helped me to find my coat and hat. I departed hastily. P. R.

Which Was Which?

My sister and I were freshmen at college together, though we are not twins. One evening we both attended a reception, where we met, among others, a young man who paid marked attention to my sister.

Early the next week he called me on the telephone and insisted on my going to the football game with him the following Saturday. I consented reluctantly, not understanding his transfer of interest.

When he rang the doorbell Saturday afternoon, I went to the door. He asked for Miss Lora, and I had to explain that he had made a date with the wrong girl and that my sister was at the game with another man. R. N.

TRIBUNE COOK BOOK

BY JANE EDDINGTON

Cooking Little Tenderloin Steaks.

We have today initiated little tenderloin steaks of one sort or another, such as the little lamb patties, encased with a band of larding bacon, fastened with toothpicks, when little roasters would contribute less to flavor the meat, and might be used if these were prepared at home instead of so universally at the butcher shop. Probably most of you are cooking these in the frying pan, just as you prepare little beef tenderloins and pork tenderloins as well.

For the latter, at any rate, a good way to do is to heat a pan hot, cook half a cup of boiling water, and stir into the unburned fat in the pan, add a little salt, and then put the steaks in, and cook ten minutes, seasoning as necessary, then serve on a hot bed of rice or toast.

enough to burn the fat if it was continued that hot, then lower the gas flame under the pan so that the meat will not be burned while being cooked ten minutes to a side. If the original heat that got the pan into condition for the cooking was maintained the fat might begin to burn in three minutes. The scanty juices of the tenderloins need to be seasoned in the slightest; if the cooking is rightly managed, the hot fat in the pan seals them in on the down side, and they will not come out on the top unless the heat underneath is strong enough to make them boil out, which it should not be.

A way to finish beef tenderloin is to lift out the cooked pieces, stir flour into the unburned fat in the pan, add a little salt, and then put the steaks in, and cook ten minutes, seasoning as necessary, then serve on a hot bed of rice or toast.

A Friend in Need

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

Offers a Photograph.

"Is there some one among your readers who is a lover of music and whose home has no music in it? I have a small photograph to offer to some one desiring it. Mrs. G. W. W. There are so many homes that answer the description above—so many in the world who crave music without finding satisfaction. We hope they will see the offer of your generous gift, Mrs. G. W. W."

Beyond His Means.

"I am an art student. After paying my tuition and sending some occasional financial aid to mother, I am unable to furnish myself with clothing. I need a suit, size 40 chest. I am 5 feet 11 in height. I would also be grateful for a pair of shoes, size 9 or 9 1/2. Although I have always been accustomed to doing without these things, which I could not get through my own efforts, I am coming to you now, with the expectation that at some future time I may repay your kindness. E. C."

A suit, a pair of shoes, or a shirt or two would be gratefully received by this earnest young man.

Society Gets Another Chance to Preen for Benefit of Nobility

BY PANDORA.

Democratic though Chicago really is, she does like to preen a bit when nobility comes to town. We may not yearn for the pleasures of saying "how do you do?" to them.

This writer admits the impeachment frankly, and has tucked away in her store of memories that of a nice tall youth, with fair hair and gray blue eyes, whom she met yesterday at tea, a youth who hails from Poland, whose French and English are excellent and altogether charming, and who likes to sit cross legged on the floor, his cigarette and tea cup neatly adjusted and balanced, while he chats of Paris and Chicago and New York, and his plans for the future.

He is the Prince Eugene Lubomirski, not at all a stranger on our shores, as he has been in America most of the time since 1919, and after a long visit at home has returned to live in New York. He has been the guest since Monday, of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Ploard of the Lake Shore Drive hotel, and it was there I met him yesterday, among just a few friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Ploard gave a dinner for him on Monday; last evening he was the guest of a dinner given by Mrs. Kenneth Sawyer Goodman at the Casino, and tonight, the Bradford H. Whitings of 227 East Delaware, are having a dinner and theater party for him.

Appropos visiting folk, Donald Blake will have journeyed hither from Pittsburgh, in the interests of the Junior League of that city, of which Mrs. Blake is an important and busy member. He will take home not only the ideas of the Chicago Junior League, but also the idea of the Junior League of the Coliseum, but will purchase the scenery and equipment from it, for a similar ball to be held in Pittsburgh next month by the Junior League.

Mrs. Blackwell plans to join her husband here in time for the ball, when they will be the guests of Vincent Healy. I suspect that it was due to this clever pair, Mrs. C. B. Goodspeed and Mrs. Adèle J. Brown, who, with the Blackwells, spend their summers on Cape Cod, that these attractive young Pittsburghers are taking such an interest in next week's great event.

Day's News in Society

The dance Mr. and Mrs. Frank D. Fulton of Winnetka had planned to give for their debutante daughter, Miss Viola Dana, on Saturday evening, Dec. 27, at the Indian Hall Country club, has been postponed to the following Tuesday, but the reception is to take place at the Fulton residence on Saturday, according to the original plans. Miss Fulton, who is attending Syracuse university, is to spend the Thanksgiving holiday with her parents.

She will be given a sports luncheon at the Indian Hall club on Dec. 29 by Mrs. John Stanley Cobb of Winnetka, who will also entertain the debutantes of the season as her guests.

The Sunbeam League, of which Miss Cordelia Murphy is president, has arranged for a Thanksgiving party for the children at the Home for Destitute Crippled Children, to take place this morning, and another for the children at Emerson house, which is to take place next Wednesday. Kindergartens are maintained at both houses by the league.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Frederick Childs of Lake Forest, and their daughter, Miss Madeleine Childs, are occupying the Alvin C. McCord at 1332 State street for the winter, and Mr. and Mrs. McCord and Miss Marjorie McCord are domiciled at the Lake Shore Drive hotel.

Mr. and Mrs. William J. Lunderback of Highland Park, have taken an apartment at the Churchill and with their daughters, Miss Elizabeth and Miss Sarah Lunderback have moved to town for the winter.

Robert Hall McCormick of 25 East Erie street has returned from a trip abroad.

Mr. and Mrs. James Alexander Waller of 220 East Walton place, who went abroad more than two months ago, have postponed their return until after Christmas.

Mrs. Mason Bros of 20 East Goethe street has returned from Peterboro, N. H., where she spent several months following her European trip.

Mr. and Mrs. Augustus D. Curtis have closed their Lake Geneva summer place and with Kenneth Curtis have taken an apartment at the Pearson hotel for the winter.

Patent Medicines Containing Alcohol Banned by W. C. T. U.

BY THE REV. W. B. NORTON.

Patent medicines containing alcohol, some of them advertised as especially helpful to women, were put under the ban yesterday at the golden jubilee convention of the Women's Christian Temperance union in Medinah Temple.

A banner was displayed naming the medicines and their alcoholic content, ranging from 10 to 25 per cent alcohol. It was asserted that many, if not all, of these medicines were sold solely for their alcoholic stimulus.

String Trio Gives Pleasing Concert

BY EDWARD MOORE.

There are only a few standards of comparison for string trios because there are only a few trios before the public. But the Elmhurst trio of New York would be a welcome comparison if they had a hundred times as many competitors. When the Musical Guild, Inc., presented this organization in the foyer of Orchestra hall yesterday afternoon, it did a good deed for itself and for its public.

Aurelio Giorni, pianist; William Kroll, violinist, and William Willeke, cellist, classify as soloists competent and better. In addition to solo ability, they practice team work of the most expert and exact kind. Piano tone is not entirely different from violin and cello tone that is ordinarily an opposing and sometimes a disturbing influence, but Mr. Giorni's playing was quite as suave and elegant as that of Mr. Kroll and Mr. Willeke. It blended, it took its proper proportion, and so the music of Beethoven, opus 57, and of Tschakovsky, opus 50, the latter written in memory of Rubinstein, came from the first notes to the last. This was the kind of playing to make chamber music popular.

Mrs. Dorothy Durrant, contralto, assisted by Franz Wagner, cellist, and Lisle Barge, pianist, gave a concert at Orchestra hall last night under the auspices of the Sisters of St. Francis.

FURTHER TAX REDUCTION SEEN BY MELLON AID

Winston Also Points Folly of Excessive Laws.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 18.—[Special.]—Hope for further federal tax reduction during the next fiscal year is expressed by Gerard B. Winston of Chicago, undersecretary of the treasury, in a statement in the current issue of the American Bankers' Association Journal. Mr. Winston says in part: "The burden of taxes must be lightened. Per capita federal taxes rose from $4.44 in 1913 to $5.44 in 1923. In 1920, when commenced to drop, and have been successively $4.44, $3.22, $2.92 in the last four fiscal years. It is estimated that for the next fiscal year the figure will be about $2.7 and we may contemplate further reductions."

State Taxes Going Up.
"As the debt is reduced government expenditures will be cut and, I hope, taxation. With the states and municipalities the opposite tendency is disclosed. In 1913 their per capita tax was something over $10. In the next four years it rose to $27, $30, $36, $38, and later figures will undoubtedly show further increases."

Taxing 100 Per Cent.
"He discusses the effect of excessive death taxes on existing capital, declaring that 'examples have been cited of how the states and federal government, under existing laws, can take more than 100 per cent of the estate.' Mr. Winston then goes on to point out the effect of excessive taxation on production of future capital, saying that after a man has provided for the reasonable requirements of living, the impetus to further production is largely the desire to leave one's family well provided for. If taxation is excessive he will probably cut down his production and 'we will have more golf players and fewer Henry Fords and Thomas Edisons.'"

U. S. CAN'T LIVE HALF FAT, HALF LEAN: MARKHAM

Chicago, Ill., Nov. 18.—[By the Associated Press.]—The country cannot live half prosperous and half poverty ridden, Charles H. Markham, president of the Illinois Central railroad, said in an address here today before the district meeting of the Illinois Chamber of Commerce. The address was the opening of the component parts of the outstanding fact of the organization of society, he said.

"We cannot have a true measure of prosperity for all kinds of business and all classes of our population unless every kind of business and every class shares in it. This applies to the railroad, to agriculture, to labor, to manufacturing, and to all other economic activity."

"But these are only the material aspects of the question. There is a much greater aspect. That is the desire deep in the heart of every man to see his fellow man happy and prosperous."

Hog market improved after a weak to unevenly lower opening yesterday and held up remarkably well on closing rounds, considering the immense number on sale. Offerings totaled about 50,000, including 60,000 fresh arrivals and 30,000 over from Monday's session. Owing to the fact that hogs averaged 85 to the carload Monday, against 75 a week ago and 74 two weeks ago, receipts initial day of the week at 90.75 were nearly 4,000 above the estimate. Choice 275 to 300 lb. butchers, brought 83.50, the day's top, while top 200 pounders rested at $9.00 and fancy 160 lb. lightweight at $8.00. Average price lowered to $8.76. There were 30,000 in the pens at the close, with 25,000 estimated for today, the largest Wednesday receipts in some time.

Weakness again prevailed in the cattle market, due to heavy receipts of all but strictly choice steers and yearlings experiencing further declines of generally 25c. Top 1,000 lb. yearlings reached the year's peak of $10.00, while prime 1,100 lb. heavy weight steers sold at $12.25 and 1,500 lb. heavy at $10.65. Closing market was in a topheavy condition, with many cattle unsold and 14,000 estimated for today. Butcher stock sold Sheep Prices Advance.

Soaring sheep and lamb values added 10 to 15c to recent advances, bringing top 114 lb. killing ewes to $8.50, highest since last May, while best fat lambs at $14.75 stood highest in more than four months. Feeding lambs at $14.50 established a new high mark for the season so far in that branch. Dwindling receipts, together with better eastern demand, caused an early clearance of stock suitable for slaughter. Shorn lambs advanced in sympathy with woolskins, selling upwards to $12.25 for choice 8 lb. averages. Fat 10 lb. yearling wethers secured $12.00.

Seven western markets received 87,000 cattle, 140,000 hogs, and 34,000 sheep, against 63,000 cattle, 136,000 hogs, and 27,000 sheep the previous Tuesday and 56,000 cattle, 125,000 hogs, and 35,000 sheep a year ago.

Receipts at Chicago for today are estimated at 16,000 cattle, 28,000 hogs, and 18,000 sheep, against 16,000 cattle, 26,000 hogs, and 18,000 sheep the corresponding Wednesday a year ago.

American Power and Light.

J. H., Salem N. J.: The American Power and Light company controls companies supplying 397 communities, of which 359 are supplied with electric power and light service and the others with miscellaneous service. The territories served have an aggregate population estimated at 2,587,000. The company recently issued $5,000,000 of 6 per cent debenture bonds due 1936, making a total of $21,720,309 of these debentures now outstanding. These constitute the company's entire interest bearing indebtedness. Net earnings of the company for the year ended Aug. 31, 1924, were $4,468,356, or over three and one-quarter times the annual interest charges on all these debentures now outstanding. There is an equity junior to these debentures of 186,676 shares of preferred and 1,480,354 shares of common stock having a combined market value of over $18,000,000. Dividends of $8.00 per share per annum have been paid on the preferred since the inception of the company in 1909, and dividends on the common stock have been paid each year since 1912, the present rate being 10 per cent. These debentures offer a high grade investment for a business man's funds.

BRITISH BREAK WITH JAPAN AMERICA'S GAIN

Geneva Stand I to U. S. Sentiment

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENRY

Washington, D. C., Nov. 19. (Continued from page 1.)—Great Britain's request for a definite postponement of consideration of the Geneva disarmament protocol viewed here as significant as a prelude to future readjustment of the relationship of world powers. The British action is indicative of the ways between Britain and Japan and a tendency on the part of Britain to defer to the attitude of the United States, superinducible, by the inclination of the overseas dominions to line up with America in the immigration controversy with Japan.

Recalls Geddes' Comments

The incident calls to mind Lord Geddes' utterance a few days ago that Britain had surrendered leadership to the United States in important respects and that the dominions are looking more to the leadership of Washington. The British move, it is generally believed, will operate to postpone the disarmament conference proposed by the league of nations does not compel the completion of that project.

If the league's disarmament conference should be called off, it would be a blow to the league's prestige. Several months ago, a conference of the league of nations was held in London, and a settlement plan was adopted. However, the league proposed an armament conference, Mr. Geddes dropped his own project pending developments.

British Wants Substitution

British government officials were quick to deny that the move for a postponement of consideration of the protocol was a sign of weakness. They suggested a substitute would be brought.

It was evident, however, that the British empire has been unable to accept the protocol in the light of the original draft might appeal to the league of nations to abandon the situation of Japan.

In that form the protocol submitted to the members of the league. Several of the British dominions, notably Australia and New Zealand, at once lined up with the British, declaring they would accept the protocol. They also have been to exclude unassimilable races.

The views of the dominions foundly impressed London, which independently was against any plan which might lead Britain to use its navy against the United States.

These circumstances are taken into account for the request for consideration of the protocol.

EUROPE LOOKS TO

BY HENRY WALKER

(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Column)

GENEVA, Nov. 19.—Great Britain's refusal to discuss the league of nations protocol of security and disarmament at the conference of the league of nations at Rome on Dec. 3 has been interpreted as a sign of weakness.

It is believed in certain quarters that the United States may summon an armament conference, and that the league of nations will thus be brought into existence.

It is recalled that at the time the Herriot and Ramsay MacDonald were in the United States for next June it was arranged for the disarmament conference to be held in Washington.

While it is realized that the United States would not carry out President Wilson's policy of participation in the league, it is not believed the world would send a delegation to Washington.

The Baldwin government is expected to sidestep the MacDonald conference made at the league of nations last September and this conference is a disarmament conference called by the United States.
